Science Week at Europa

Another successful Science Week is drawing to a close. We started a week early, with Professor Phil Manning, from Manchester University, sharing with the school, his huge passion for dinosaurs. This week, as in previous years, we had many parents and other keen contributors doing hands-on Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths-based activities (STEM) with the children. The activities varied enormously, reflecting the huge talent pool we are lucky enough to be able to dip into! Thank you to all! Many thanks, too, to Tim Durkin, for his splendid efforts organising all the parents.

Other News

Primary Pop concert -

On Wednesday 13 March our 50-strong primary choir performed with other school choirs in two Primary Pop concerts at the Centre for Music, Oxford. They sang 9 songs accompanied by an amazing live band with the support of backing vocals. Congratulations to all our fantastic singers including soloists and actors Noemie, Emilia, Olivia and Florence. The concerts were a great success and everyone had a wonderful evening.
