Last Virtual Day for the S7s

Here are few words about our wonderful S7s from all the Secondary Staff. And some photos of the tea-party here.

To S7
 In these unusual times, it was our continuing hope,
 To finish the school year with the usual approach
 We'd hoped to stage the S7 talent show and the cabaret
 With students imitating teachers in an amiable way
 And muck up day, with its traditions and usual pranks
 A Head's nightmare, the Health and safety equivalent of walking the plank
 This year sadly we will miss the barbeque on the field
 The volleyball match, bouncy castles and friendships sealed
 The end of the day in the library with Mrs Wood
 The semester reports and exams schedules all understood
 Because this year is cancelled, and we are very sorry to say
 We have none of those moments and memories at the end of today

 But what we have in abundance is a huge amount of affection
 To a year group who kept going despite the situation.
 So today we hope to give you a great virtual experience
 When all the A2 marks are submitted – the end of all things serious
 We will raise our teacups and offer you all good cheer
 With cakes and S7 teachers but definitely no beer!
 And now to a party and a wonderful surprise
 To the S7s of 2020 for all to say their goodbyes.
 But it is not adieu as we have unfinished business to consider
 A cabaret and proclamation to take place in December
Lynn Wood - Principal

Festa della Repubblica

Our S5s and S6s L3 Italian students are booked to meet with journalist Marisa Ingrosso of La Gazzetta del Mezzogiorno, author of "Sud Atomico" (2019), an investigation on the plutonium supply chain in southern Italy. In 2013 Ingrosso won the national prize (CNR) for scientific divulgation, and she writes about major social issues. Students will be on the live interview and are preparing questions to ask her.

Secondary info

We await government direction about the return of any secondary cohorts. In the meantime, distance learning will continue from the 1st of June. We hope you will have a very restful half term, and try to enjoy a bit of the outside when you can!
