

ANTHEA BELL PRIZE FOR YOUNG TRANSLATORS

Congratulations to Jonas Kaufmann (S5) as area winner (South East England) of the Anthea Bell Prize for Young Translators organised by Queen's College Oxford, in the sixth form category. This is his second year running as area winner and with an increased number of participants (16K+).

Jonas will now be entered in the national level competition.

The Prize is a programme of Queen's Translation Exchange (QTE), a project that aspires to making culture intrinsic to language-learning.

WOMEN IN SCIENCE

On Saturday the 18th of May, the Women in Science conference was held at Rutherford Appleton Laboratory. The conference had the participation of great women from the scientific and educational fields, who shared among the attendees their passion for science and how to help young people develop the necessary tools in the areas of science, technology, engineering and mathematics through STEM skills. Among them were Amanda Clegg and Karen Collis, co-authors of the book Grappling with Graphs, A Guide for Teachers of 11-16 Science and the Award winning book KS3 Science Now.

THANK YOU TO THE PTA

For funding this large screen that will be used for rainy days when the pupils have to stay inside and also for all school events that will take place in the canteen annexe.

ART CLUB MINI GALLERY

ART CLUB MINI GALLERY

It has been another creative filled half term at the Art Club, the children have worked on many projects including: focusing on planet earth: earth day, sea life, endangered animals, and thinking about the Olympics: creating foil sculptures inspired by Alberto Giacometti - and many more personal projects. I hope you will enjoy seeing some of the children's artwork here from primary year 3 up to secondary S2, and I'm looking forward to seeing everyone after the May break :)

Help your children to read and succeed in Science and Maths

370,000 secondary school students tested

The link between maths, science and reading is higher than in English literature and history

Reading skills & science achievement have a relationship closer than the one between interest and enjoyment of science x science achievement ¼ of all 15-year-olds have a reading age of 12 or below.

Only 47% of boys aged 15 against 53% of girls in the same age have a reading age of 15 and higher.

Being literate is the most essential factor for disadvantaged students studying science.

Data from GL Assessment, research from 2018-2019, report found at <http://www.gl-assessment.co.uk/whyreading>

Have you 5 minutes?

Ask your child to read the headlines on their mobile phone and tell you which one seems more interesting or intriguing, and why.

If you have 10 minutes

Ask them to read a short article and summarise it. Then you could ask: do you agree with what the article said? Why or why not?

When you have 30 minutes

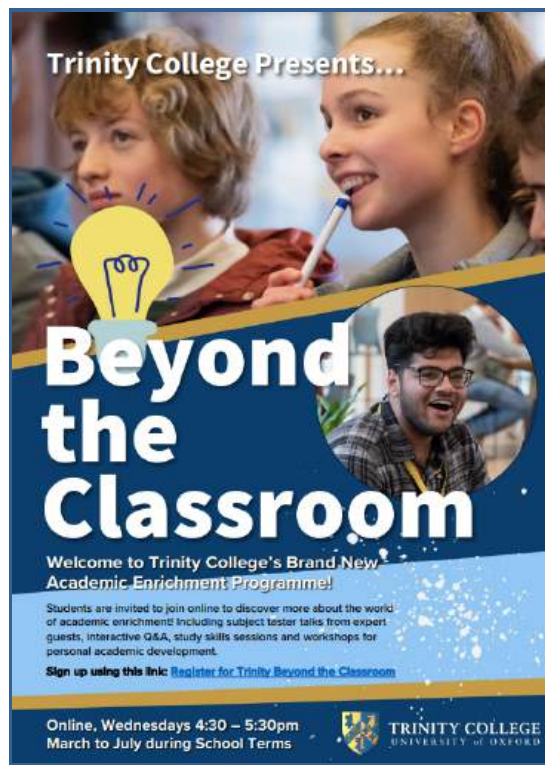

Choose an article and read together. Ask each other why you prefer this or that subject. Discuss what the author really meant and if your children had seen the topic in school already.
